AMERICAS

There was nothing traditional or predictable about 2016. From politics to the economy to Brexit, 2016 was a pivotal point for the entire world. While many just want to put 2016 in the rearview mirror, here at Elanders we want to take a moment to share the positive things we accomplished in support of our customers. In this newsletter, we have outlined how we utilized 2016 to advance our pursuit to become a global supplier of integrated solutions in the areas of supply chain management, print & packaging, and e-commerce.

Production Enhancements

Elanders Americas' research and development team is always keeping a watchful eye towards new equipment and ways to expand our product offerings. "Elanders has always been an innovator, working with our suppliers to engineer systems and streamline processes that address the ever changing needs of our customers," states Don Singleton, Director of Manufacturing. There is always something new and exciting with promises of excellence, so making the right decision for our customers and our operations can be a daunting and time intensive task. However, we think you will be intrigued with the results...
